REPORT : RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT CLUB ACTIVITY

DATE: 02 FEB 2019

Familiarising with research is the fundamental aspect required for initiation into small scale research. For this purpose Research and development club organized an activity of reviewing the research journal available in AIE library. From the total 36 print copy of Research Journals each group selected one journal, reviewed and reported the review under different titles as

Name of the Journal with ISSN Number, Title of the article, objectives of the Study, Hypotheses or Research Questions, Methodology (sampling Technique, Data collection Method and tool, statistical techniques used and Major findings.

As this is the first review of a research articles student teachers needed assistance from the faculty at the initial stage. But as they proceeded, they came with productive discussions and output. The reports were collected and compiled.
